OK, YOU FILLED OUT THE FOOD JOURNAL. NOW WHAT?

1

Take a look at all you've written down. Using a colored pen (like a yellow or green highlighter), circle all those times you made good choices, ate according to your plan, resisted temptation and feel proud about what you did.

2

Now look for the times when things may not have gone the way you'd hoped. Do you see a pattern in any of the columns? Eating when you're not hungry? Eating when you're alone and feeling a bit lonely? Pick one or two columns where you want to focus your improvement plan.

3

Write your own specific action steps for what you can do to get on track. Set a SMART goal for yourself. Something that is specific, measurable, actionable, realistic and time-based. We've listed some examples of goals that may help you choose the right one for you.

FOOD HABIT DIARY REVIEW: HOW DID I DO?	I DO OK HERE	NEEDS WORK	I WILL....
FOOD: I'm eating well at least 80% of the time (fruits, veggies, lean meats, whole grains) & I limit treats to less than 20% of the time.			Increase the amount and kinds of vegetables I eat Decrease sweet treats to only twice a week <hr/>
AMOUNT: I feel like the amount I ate was right for me.			Increase the veggies to fill at least half my plate Decrease the amount of beer/wine I drink <hr/>
TIME/FREQUENCY: I eat on a fairly structured schedule.			Aim to eat meals only three times a day (morning, mid-day and evening) Aim to have one snack /day <hr/>
HUNGER: I eat when I'm hungry.			Sip a cup of tea if I want a snack when I'm not really hungry Carry a protein bar when I'm too busy so I don't get overly-hungry (and then overeat) <hr/>
PLACE: I'm always at my designated eating place; I'm not snacking standing up or in front of the TV.			Only eat sitting down at my kitchen table Not eat in front of the TV <hr/>
MOOD: Moods are not affecting my eating; I'm not turning to food when I'm bored or stressed.			Recognize when I'm feeling lonely or blue &amp; snacking; do a crossword puzzle or hobby Change my habits of celebrating the end of the week by reducing my 2 drinks to 1 <hr/>
TRIGGER/CUE: I don't choose to eat based on something I see or a trigger in my kitchen / my surroundings.			Reorganize my refrigerator so the fruits and veggies are easier to grab Keep tempting foods out of sight (cookie jar off the counter; no candy bowl at work) Break the habit of eating a tasty food when I do a specific activity like watching a TV show <hr/>
MINDFUL: I eat slowly, without distraction, paying close attention and enjoying each bite.			Eat my meals more slowly – at least 20 minutes Avoid distractions while eating (no reading, no TV...) <hr/>
WITH WHOM: I am able to eat well no matter who I'm with. I don't notice certain people influencing me to eat more.			Talk with my co-workers about my meal plan so they can be more supportive Tell my loved one that while I love her cookies, I don't want her to bring them to my house for the next 3 months while I'm working hard to limit what I eat <hr/>
PLANNED: I eat what I've planned for my meals and snacks.			Dust off my meal plan and follow it more closely Talk with my dietitian about adjusting my plan, as it does not seem to be right for me <hr/>
